

A List of Material Possessions I'd Love to Acquire in 2010/11

Apple

Yeah, I know there's NO WAY I'm getting the top two items on my wish list but this is just that, a WISH list so why not list my wishes?

(And if anyone out there actually does feel the desire to invest in computer items for me, please understand that the entry level versions of these items would make me ECSTATIC! So don't feel like you have to spend tons to surprise the heck out of me.)

11 inch Macbook Air with 128 GB flash memory
1.6 GHz processor, 4 GB RAM

64 Gb iPad

Books

Books are always great gifts but so are gift certificates from Barnes and Nobel. As an Educator I get 20% off my book purchases. However, if you purchase from the BN.Com website, often the prices are better than my discount.

Pop Sculpture : How to Create Action Figures and Collectible Statues

Lego

Although I don't have much time to build with Lego, I still enjoy it immensely (As evidenced by my large lego castle) because building allows me to spend time doing things with my kids that all of us enjoy.
